

A local newspaper that serves St. Mary's County, Maryland. The paper is ultimately owned by the Washington Post Company.

In earlier years the newspaper was called the "Empty Prize" as a derogatory play on words, in reference to its general lack of meaningful content.